

Jurisdiction & Terms of purchase of the token

The company PATENTICO in the sale of tokens will guarantee that it will offer a useful way of establishing proof of authorship for new inventions, artwork, concepts and other intellectual property. The funds obtained from the initial token sale will be used to add to the company's database an extensive list of publication and research functions described in the white paper, as well as to provide user interfaces for patent offices, educational institutions, experts and lawyers around the world, as well as provide minimum documentation rules. These rules, in turn, will prescribe the international searching authorities, patent experts, patent offices, which will search the database PATENTICO as a tool to assess the novelty of patent applications. This will make PATENTICO a leading service for the secure online publication of Intellectual Property.

PATENTICO tokens are used to provide services within the PATENTICO ecosystem. The sale of PATENTICO tokens involves the issuance of digital tokens. PATENTICO tokens are not considered securities within any jurisdiction. Despite the existing differences between different jurisdictions, it is likely that the classification of the token cannot be prevented, as it does not represent ownership of the company, does not secure the right to participate in the company's revenue, the token is not a unit in the collective investment scheme or the organization of the collective investment scheme. Because these characteristics do not explicitly apply to the PATENTICO token, it has the status of a real utility token, and as such is solely a voucher used by customers to access PATENTICO services.

PATENTICO aims to create a revolutionary way to protect intellectual property by meeting the needs of Innovators. To make this possible, the company works together with major stakeholders in IP matters, including national regulators, supranational organizations, patent offices and leading law firms as well as universities and associations representing the interests of the users.
